From Your Mayor

It's Ballwin's favorite time of year! Ballwin Days is coming up this August 15 - 18. It's a time for our community to get together, have some fun and enjoy the summer sun. We're excited for the best festival in West County!

We're also excited to show off the progress the City has made on the new playground at Vlasik Park. Construction has been underway for several months now and the playground is starting to really take shape. It is expected to be completed sometime before the end of the year.

We're also planning on starting construction on Ries Road within the next few months. The plan is to resurface Ries Road from Manchester Road to Big Bend Road to address deteriorated pavement.

I'm also excited to announce the hiring of former John Bergfeld as the new Chief of Police. Chief Bergfeld has been with the Ballwin Police Department for a very long time, and we're proud to have him at the helm of our highly-trained, well respected and accredited department. It is great to have someone with such a deep understanding and history of our City lead our officers into a new chapter. You can read more about Chief Bergfeld on pages 10-11.

I hope you enjoy the rest of your summer and I also hope to see you at Ballwin Days in just a few weeks!

The Ballwin Historical Commission held a “Frontier Day” event at the Harrison-Schmidt-Dahlke log home at the western edge of Vlasis Park on May 11, 2024.

Tours of the log home were supplemented with “old-time” music performed by Rick Thum, Teresa Moore, #9 Coal, and the New Forgottonia Ramblers on the back porch while a variety of vendors and reenactors provided period-appropriate activities on the lawn next to the log home. The Missouri Department of Natural Resources sent a historical guide who explained how “Buffalo Soldiers” and “Steel Riders” were important in our history. Chris Ketcherside answered questions about the Civil War (while wearing his Union reenactor’s uniform). A “cowboy storyteller” brought a small Conestoga wagon with some sutler’s wares. Joe Schaefer demonstrated railsplitting, and he joined with his family to provide some delicious samples of campfire Dutch oven cooking. Pioneer Karmel Korn/Pork Skins offered freshly prepared, tasty treats. Frontier Day will be held on May 17th in 2025.

Police Department Comments

The Ballwin Police Department became CALEA Accredited in 2023. Part of maintaining the CALEA Accreditation is gathering comments, commendations, and information regarding the quality of service. In order to achieve this, the Ballwin Police Department has created a public comment portal, which can be located on the city website as well as the Ballwin Police Department's Facebook page. You can find a link to the comment portal using the QR Code Below. The information gathered plays a key role in maintaining the standard the department strives to uphold.

The Law Enforcement Accreditation process focuses on standards that provide the best practices related to life, health, and safety procedures for the agency. These standards are considered foundational for contemporary law enforcement agencies. The CALEA program provides the framework for addressing high risk issues within a contemporary environment, and ensures the officers are prepared to meet the basic community service expectations and prepared to manage critical events.

If anyone has any questions or would like additional information on the CALEA Accreditation process, please feel free to contact our Accreditation Manager at (636) 227-9636.

Meet the New Police Chief

There's a new Ballwin Police Chief in town! And he might look familiar to many.

Former Captain John Bergfeld is now Chief John Bergfeld. "When the opportunity presented itself I decided that I wanted to continue to lead the agency," he says. "I've got an awesome group of men and women here, and I felt that I was in a good position to make sure that we're leading in a positive manner forward."

He has been Acting Chief since October of 2023, but his history with the Ballwin Police Department goes back much further.

Chief Bergfeld has been with the Ballwin Police Department since he was sworn in in May of 1997 as a patrol officer. He was eventually promoted to School Resource Officer for Selvidge and Crestview Middle Schools. That's where he met his wife, Lisa, a French teacher at Crestview. They would go on to eventually have a son, Drew. Chief Bergfeld jokes, "there's people still to this day I'll run into out here in Ballwin and they're like "you married my French teacher!"

Chief Bergfeld was again promoted several times, first as Patrol Sergeant, then Community Affairs Sergeant, Road Lieutenant, Accreditation Manager and finally to Assistant Chief of Police & Captain. That's a role he's held since 2016.

So why has he stayed in Ballwin so long? His answer is simple. "Even though we're in an urban area, it still has a small town feel to it.

"There's a lot of residents who've lived here their whole life. It's a great group, the City is a great place to work, I've enjoyed my time here," Chief Bergfeld says.

He says there's one goal he has in mind as Chief of Police. "My goal as police chief is a refocus on community policing," he says. "We've always been engaged with our community but we need to get further engaged and be responsive to the citizens, what they want. I've been trying to attend different community meetings, HOA meetings, I've met with several faith leaders in our community to make sure that all of the subgroups that make up Ballwin are heard and represented."

His favorite part of the job? The impact you have on someone's life. He tells the story of a sudden death call he was sent out on as Lieutenant. "Unfortunately her middle school aged daughter came home from school and found her. I just talked to her, I just did my job. And then about two or three years ago, I was in a restaurant having lunch with a coworker and this lady came up to me and she goes "do you know who I am?" And I'm like, no. And she goes "you were one of the officers that was at my house when I found my mom and I want to thank you. You really showed compassion and you really helped me that day." And I'm thinking to myself, that's what I do every day... I didn't feel like I did anything special that day. I would expect any of my officers to do the same."

Chief Bergfeld says he's excited to get to work as top cop in the City that he loves. And he's excited to help his officers continue to provide the level of service that the citizens of Ballwin have come to expect.

"I need to make sure that I am providing what my staff needs," he says. "That is my goal is to help them so that they can provide the highest level of service to my community. It's not about me, it's about everybody else."

Ballwin's School Resource Officers

It's almost fall, and that means a new school year is upon us. This year we have returning elementary School Resource Officer Mike Hitchcock and new Selvidge Middle School Resource Officer Ceriana Davis in Ballwin schools. Officer Davis was recently selected by Selvidge Middle School and the Ballwin Police Department to become the SRO for the next few years.

Officer Hitchcock is well known and has a lengthy history for the Ballwin community and department. He was recently awarded Fox 2's Proud to Serve award.

Officer Hitchcock has been with the department for 38 years and has served as Selvidge Middle SRO and even won the School Resource Officer of the Year Award from the National Law Enforcement Hall of Fame. Last year he brought his knowledge, skills, and experience to the elementary schools to help make an impact and bridge relationships with the children and first responders. He believes in being present for the kids during the good times and the bad.

One of his favorite pastimes is attending art class and participating with the students.

Officer Ceriana Davis was hired on by the Ballwin Police Department in January of 2022 and hit the ground running. She has shown an interest with juvenile calls and community outreach throughout her career. It takes a great deal of knowledge and patience to be able to connect to kids, and Officer Davis prides herself on that connection.

Even though Officer Davis is new to being an SRO, she has already set some goals and objectives. “Middle school is a vulnerable age where children begin to find influences for who they want to become as adults,” Officer Davis says. She wants to focus on trust and guidance, teaching her students to become the best version of themselves by putting their creativity, and ambitions at the forefront of their minds. She looks forward to seeing her students grow within the community, as she does throughout her future with the Ballwin Police Department.

Officer Davis also hopes to establish positive relationships between first responders and students. Most of all, Officer Davis is excited to enter this new phase of her career. We wish Officer Davis good luck on her first school year as SRO!
